Welcome

Our 2009/10 catalogue is now in your hands. Since our last catalogue there have been many changes in the world we live in today. Here at Kootenay Forge, we are still working hard at producing timeless hand-forged ironwork. We have spent the past year wondering how to make our products, faster, easier and affordable. Through this assessment we have realized that the quality of our products is more important to us than the price tag that is put on them. We do our best to offer the best price we can for our hard work.

We would like to provide an example of our timeless products that have withstood unfortunate circumstances. We received a call from a lady that had lost her house to a fire. One of the only items left was the fireplace set that we had made for her a number of years before. She wanted to know if she could send it back to us to see if we could shine it up again, so that she could pass it down to her son and his family, as her new home did not have a fireplace. With a little rubbing, a new brush, and a fresh coat of wax we reclaimed this wonderful fireplace set and sent it off to continue its purpose for the family.

We will continue to hand-forge ironwork that will last for years without the worry of it breaking down and falling apart. As a customer of Kootenay Forge Ltd you will know that from the first cut of steel to your address being written on the box to be sent out, all of us here care about what we do and pass this on to you.

Pour a nice cup of tea or coffee, sit and take a moment to enjoy looking through our new catalogue.

Lampshades

Our lampshades have been carefully chosen to complement our lamps - simple, natural and interesting, and not the sort of shades you would find every day. They are made from hand-made paper and have pieces of wool inside the paper, giving them an interesting, irregular texture and pattern. Please see elsewhere on the website for the lampshade prices.

Ironwork Care

Ironwork Care

Except as otherwise indicated below, our finish is a hard-drying acrylic polish that highlights the natural black colour of iron, and does not hide any detail of the forging process. This is a long lasting indoor finish which may be restored very simply by wiping the ironwork with any suitable clear polish, such as 'Future' floor polish.

Items that we expect to get wet are treated with a different finish, either a water based urethane finish or metal lacquer. This is adequate for normal use, but if our products are to be used in extreme conditions we suggest an additional one or two coats of metal lacquer be applied first.

Items that have been given this water resistant finish are:

- Bathroom Accessories (except towel rails, which are now powder-coated for maximum durability)
- Plant Accessories • Coat Stands • Umbrella Stands • Door Knockers

The other items in this catalogue would usually be used in a dry location, and the finish will be more than adequate.

Any finish wears off with time. Periodic re-finishing should be expected.

Please treat your ironwork with care - we cannot be responsible for the finish if you use it in inappropriate places or treat it roughly.

Kootenay Forge is situated in Crawford Bay, a little hamlet on the shores of Kootenay Lake in south-eastern British Columbia. It is an area renowned for its natural beauty and also its artists and craftspeople. We invite you to visit us if you are in the area. Within walking distance of our shop there are a Broommaker, a Glassblower, a Copper Enamelist, a Pottery studio, a Jeweller, a Weaving studio and even a Wizard Maker. Local establishments also display works by local artists.

In our gallery you will see all the items in this catalogue plus other one-of-a-kind pieces. You are welcome to watch us work and learn a little about this age-old craft - our workshop is always open to the public.

Blacksmithing is the original craft of working with iron, going back 3,500 years. Although the tools have changed over the years, we still follow in the footsteps of the blacksmiths of old, using many of the same techniques. With small, energy efficient propane forges, we heat the steel to 2,000° F (1,200° C) and hammer, bend and twist it into all the beautiful shapes you see here. We use a few modern tools, but it's with hammers that we forge life into the red hot steel, and the ring of the anvil is music to our ears.

Visit our web site to learn more about us, see more pictures of our workshops, and to keep an eye out for new products.

We also do custom work - please contact us.
